THE ETIOLOGY OF PELLAGRA

The recent unfavorable advertising that the South has had, occasioned by the belief on the part of some that Pellagra is due solely to a deficiency diet, and that because the price of cotton is low there must be general starvation, and therefore an increase of pellagra in the Southern states, makes it appear timely to discuss the etiology of this important disease. Since pellagra was first described, perhaps because the gastro-intestinal symptoms are usually pronounced, food of one kind or another, or the lack of various constituents in food, have been considered as the most probable etiological factors.

The Italians having had a large experience with pellagra have contributed most to the literature on the subject. Lombroso's theory that it is due to some unknown factor in maize is still regarded by the Italians as the most probable cause. Coni's view that pellagra is caused by a toxin generated in an aspergillum which grows on maize that has not been dried thoroughly, is believed by some. In 1911 Alessandrini promulgated the

At a Special Term of the Circuit Court of the City of Alexandria continued and held at the Courthouse of said City on Thursday, July 21, 1921.

Present: Hon. Samuel G. Brent, Judge.

In the Matter of the Petition of the Electors of the City of Alexandria, Virginia, for the Change in the Form of Government for said City under the Provisions of the Code of Virginia of 1919 and the Acts of the General Assembly of Virginia Amendment thereof.

This 21st day of July, 1921, came the petitioners and presented petitions prepared and executed in due form of law of electors of the City of Alexandria, equal in number to at least 10 per cent of those qualified to vote at the last general election held in said city at which a mayor or council was elected, and specifying in said petition the particular form of government permitted under the provisions of the Code of Virginia, 1919, and the Acts of the General Assembly of Virginia, amendment thereof, to wit: "City Manager Plan," which form of government they wish to adopt, including a Council to be composed of five councilmen, to be elected at large and to serve with compensation, and asking that an election be held on the 14th day of October, 1921, as provided by the Code of Virginia, 1919, and the Acts of the General Assembly of Virginia, amendment thereof; and said petition being in all respects in conformity with the provisions of the Code of Virginia of 1919, and the Acts of the General Assembly amendment thereof; it is ordered that Windsor W. Demaine, R. E. Sweeney and Frank E. Moore, or their successors in office composing the Electoral Board of the City of Alexandria, Virginia, be and they are hereby directed to take such steps and prepare such means as may be necessary to submit to the qualified voters of the City of Alexandria, Virginia, at an election which said Electoral Board is hereby ordered and directed to hold on the 4th day of October, 1921, for the determination of the question whether said proposed change in the form of government for the City of Alexandria, shall be adopted or not; and that said election shall be conducted in the manner prescribed by law for the conduct of regular elections by the regular election officers of said city.

And it is further ordered that a copy of this order be published in the Alexandria Gazette, a newspaper published in the City of Alexandria, Virginia, for at least 30 days prior to said election, and said Electoral Board is further directed to give all the due publicity to said election that under the law they are required to give of regular elections.

And the Clerk of this Court is directed to transmit a copy of this order to each member of the Electoral Board of the City of Alexandria, Virginia.

A TRUE COPY.

TESTE:
NEVILLE S. GREENAWAY, Clerk.
In pursuance of the annexed order of the Circuit Court of the City of Alexandria, Virginia, entered July 21, 1921, notice is hereby given that an election will be held in the city of Alexandria, on Tuesday, the 4th day of October 1921, for the purpose in said order set forth, and that the said election will be conducted in the manner prescribed by law, for the conduct of regular elections and by the regular election officers of said city.

WINDSOR W. DEMAINE,

theory that pellagra results from a deficiency diet, silicon being the constituent which he believed to be absent in the food of pellagrins. Sambon's simulum reptans theory is not accepted by many Italians.

In the United States investigations have been made that led to a marked divergence of opinion regarding the pathogenesis of pellagra. The Thompson-McFadden Commission, headed by Siler, after very thorough studies became convinced that pellagra is due to some infection connected with sewage, and in a number of localities after improvements in the sewerage the disease decreased or disappeared. The late Isadore Dyer, Dean of Tulane Medical School, New Orleans, had the conviction that sewage disposal had something to do with pellagra. He often made the statement that he had "never seen a case of pellagra which developed in a city that was well sewered."

Francis, and his associates in the U. S. Public Health Service, made some thorough studies in the effort to transmit pellagra to monkeys and human beings; and they came to the conclusion that pellagra cannot be transmitted directly from one person to another.

GOLDBERGER'S THEORY

In 1908 Deeks, on the Canal Zone, announced his belief that pellagra is a nutritional disease resulting from a diet excessive in cane sugar and other carbohydrates. In 1914 Goldberger, of the U. S. Public Health Service, made some experiments on Mississippi convicts who developed pellagra, or at least symptoms closely akin to the disease, after having been fed on a low protein, and an excessive carbohydrate, diet. He then announced that pellagra is due to an "unbalanced" diet. Due to very clever propaganda Goldberger's theory has been accepted by many physicians. Many others, however, both before and after Goldberger's theory was announced, believed that malnutrition is an important predisposing factor in the production of pellagra, as it is in tuberculosis; and that the primary cause is probably a gastro-intestinal infection of some kind.

Since so much has been said about Goldberger's experiments, which by the way have not been verified by others, they should be repeated by an expert on nutrition like MacCollum, collaborating with bacteriologists and epidemiologists to prevent possible infection. It has been pointed out by those who do not believe in Goldberger's theory that his experiments were carried out in the state in which pellagra was most prevalent;

Do It Now!

So many coal consumers have delayed putting in their Winter coal this season that there will be an urgent demand when the weather gets cold which will make it impossible for the mines to produce, the railroads to haul or the dealer to handle all orders as satisfactorily as the trade will want.

It is our advice to all consumers to enter their order now and have their coal put in as promptly as possible.
